

Denver Ride to M. Eisenhower Park

Join us for something a little different, a ride on the great trail system in metro Denver. We'll ride from the Aquarium along the Cherry Creek Trail and the Highline Canal trails to a small park in Littleton and enjoy a picnic lunch. Then we will pick up the South Platte River trail back to the start. This is an easy 28 mile ride, with about 400 feet in elevation gain, and it starts at about a 1,000 feet lower in elevation than we typically start at here in the Springs.

Carpooling recommended, parking is $7.00 at the Aquarium. There is some street parking, but it could be some distance away. Please bring a lunch; there are vending machines for drinks (PowerAde, soda, water) at the park where we'll stop, but there are no nearby restaurants. The 3 p.m. end time will be dependent on weather, our speed, and the possibility of the f-word occurring to one or more air-filled rubber circular conveyance devices...
